

SIXTEEN FLYERS TO CROSS LAND

Aviators Respond Promptly to Invitation of Aero Club of America.

$100,000 PRIZES OFFERED

Several Manufacturers Announce They Will Enter Two or More Machines.

NEW YORK, May 15.—Aviators and manufacturers of aeroplanes are responding promptly to the invitation of the Aero Club of America to participate in a transcontinental aeroplane competition for a trophy and cash prizes aggregating $100,000 on September 2. The club has received promises of sixteen entries. Several aeroplane manufacturers announced that they would enter two or more machines.

Among the professional aviators who have indicated their intention of entering the competition are Robert G. Teller, who made the first transcontinental flight in 1911; George A. Briddle, of the Aerobiles, who won the marine flying trophy in 1912; Bacter Adams, an ex-station pilot of Hammondsport, N. Y., and E. L. Dartmouth, who is said to have made 2,669 flights without an accident.

Madge Compromises With Her Conscience, but Whatever in the world does this mean? Well, whatever in the world does this mean? Dickie turned over me as I sank into a center seat in the couch of the Jacuzzi express. He had followed me from the other couch which I had left him and sent me suddenly with the chattered words to follow me.

I looked at him, finally sat down, please, and I will tell you! I said coldly.

He now wrinkled his brow after another moment he broke out laughing.

"You don't need to tell me," he said. "You see, I had forgotten all about that jealous streak in you when I was racing about the charms of the lady in the seat opposite."

My cheeks flamed. "I am not jealous," I said with all the dignity I could muster. "We started out this morning for a day in the country, the first little trip we have made since our marriage. I think I really might have counted upon some of your attention, but you have given it to a dozen others to me since we started."

"I think, I think, my dear one," Dickie interrupted, with the most expectant expression.

And those were wholly open the subject of the beauty of the woman across the aisle. I did not mind that so much. But when you planned to escape an acquaintance with her, as you evidently put it, I made up my mind that I might give you the pleasure. I will sit at the next station and take a long walk in time. Then, I can never be embarrassed by an audience."

"I will repeat, we're not—
Dickie interrupted, with the most expectant expression.
